WHAT'S CHANGED

King Slide Works Co. Ltd. (2059.TW)	From	To
Price Target	NT$10,000.00	NT$15,000.00

Management indicates that its industry position and GM profile have been achieved gradually and should be sustained. We raise our 2027 EPS estimate 53% and continue to apply a target P/E of 30x, implying a PEG of 0.4. Stay OW.

Is the revenue growth momentum sustainable? Yes: King Slide posted solid monthly sales of NT$6,407mn (+44% MoM/+356% YoY) in July. To put this into perspective, this monthly run rate was 3.3x vs. that in March 2026 (NT$1,918mn, +9% MoM/+39% YoY). Though management did not provide numerical guidance on the call, it indicates that it is seeing broad-based strong customer demand with good order visibility across a wide range of applications in both data center and enterprise environments. Because of its comprehensive patent portfolio and solid execution, King Slide should remain the go-to supplier in most relevant projects. Therefore, we now expect revenue to step up further in 3Q26, to NT$19,555mn (+81% QoQ/+348% YoY).

What's the margin outlook? Confident: The 87.4% GM (+9.7ppt QoQ) for 2Q26 was remarkable. Management cited a more favorable product mix – it shipped plenty of new products, which usually carry higher margins thanks to more complicated design. Management believes that rail kit technology will continue to advance – and King Slide is able to better address those needs through accumulated knowledge to efficiently move design concepts into manufacturable products. Furthermore, the product life cycle has shortened to 6-12 months from 12-24 months in the past, which will pose more challenges for the supply chain – but at the same time, position leading players like King Slide well to offer more value. As a result, management sounds confident about its margin outlook in coming years.

Does King Slide have enough capacity? It's coming: This is another natural question for a company showing such robust growth in a short period. Management indicated that it has been squeezing more output from its existing facilities through equipment/automation upgrades and more work shifts; utilization is 70-80% now. Aside from existing plants, it will have US capacity coming online this September/ October and a new factory in Kaohsiung in 2H27. Last, it might kick off another project in late 2026 in Kaohsiung next to its existing one that could accommodate a greenfield factory – potentially tripling its existing capacity when fully operational.

Stay OW: We maintain the view that King Slide's competitiveness is well entrenched and accentuated amid quick generation migration. The stock has rallied very strongly, yet we believe the earnings outlook can sustain valuation.

Estimate Revisions

We raise our earnings estimates 52% for 2026, 53% for 2027, and 43% for 2028: This is mainly to factor in the very strong 2Q26 results and July sales, along with stronger revenue growth assumptions into 2H26 and beyond.

Valuation Methodology

Our price target (base case scenario value) is NT$15,000 (previously NT$10,000): It is derived from our target P/E of 30x 2027e (unchanged).

We use P/E as our valuation methodology because we believe it better captures King Slide's earnings growth potential. We believe our 30x target P/E multiple is justified by an operating profit CAGR of 77% for 2025-28 in our estimates, implying a PEG of 0.4 vs. the average of 1.1 over 2010-25, when the stock traded at 18x P/E with an operating profit CAGR of 18%.

Bull case scenario value – NT$20,000 (vs. NT$13,000 previously): We apply a 40x multiple to our base case estimate for 2027 (unchanged). Our bull case mainly reflects stronger demand for server rail kits owing to heavy server capex and spec upgrades driven by the secular AI trend.

Bear case scenario value – NT$7,500 (vs. NT$5,000 previously): We apply a 15x multiple to our base case estimate for 2027 (unchanged). Our bear case mainly reflects lukewarm data center demand amid softening IT capex budgets and pricing pressure for server components without spec upgrades.

OVERWEIGHT THESIS

- We maintain the view that King Slide's competitiveness in the rail kit business is well entrenched and accentuated amid quick generation migration.
- Its strong competitive advantages, sustainable revenue growth and high margins, and solid balance sheet make it one of our preferred AI component plays.
- Capacity should expand and be sufficient to sustain growth.
- Our price target of NT$15,000 is based on a target P/E of 30x 2027e. The stock has rallied very strongly, yet we believe the earnings outlook can sustain valuation.
